Psych Club

Issue 140 (June Edition) of the 'All Out Cricket' magazine commences to follow a Walton CC player, Nick Champion, through the season to see if Sports Psychology Works. For Nick, an initial believer in the concept, although it appears now a little uncertain, hopes that a successful outcome will see his average for the season be over 30 with the bat, taking wickets at an average of 20, and oh yes to catch more than he drops.

We wish him well and will be following his achievements both on the field and in the regular updates in the magazine.
